ABSTRACT:

Nonviolence leads to love and love leads to peace. Human history met with a number of nonviolence promoters and peace keepers'. In the Holy Bible Lord Jesus's primary preaching is love. Mahatma Gandhi, Martin Luther King Jr., Bob Morley, Misread Maguire, Nelson Mandela, John F. Kennedy, Robert F. Kennedy, Jawaharlal Nehru are most reputed and reputable personalities who toiled for nonviolence and peace. In Wikipedia, we can find hundreds of thousands of peace lovers/makers. Amazingly, there is the consistent existence of the United Nation Organization [UNO] who's main function, efforts and attempts to safeguard international peace. Besides this, there are a lot of organizations, institutes and research centers to maintain peace globally. But unfortunately, till this day, the chances for world peace are very dim. The author is not at all finding any fault in these visions and missions. For further quick progress of global peace, the author humbly proposes some new concepts.

On some new concepts to establish peace globally

- 1) From LKG to PhD peace subjects are to be introduced.
- 2) To educate the timely importance of peace publicity through radio and TV is to be carried out properly.
- 3) Short and full length motion pictures are to be produced and released.
- 4) Monthly poetry, essay and speech competitions are to be conducted and top prizes should be awarded to winning students.
- 5) A peace tax of 5% is to be collected from corporates and other high income people so that this money can be spent for peace and allied projects.
- 6) The power systems SHOULD be decentralized so that more and more attention can be paid for peace propaganda.
- 7) Disarmament talks are to be conducted for global peace. The big powers are hesitating to reduce defense budgets. Only they talk, write and preach. But they do not do anything concretely and solidly for peace promotion. This is a problematic problem.
- 8) The author recommends politically interested people of the global countries to BEGIN new political parties such as PEACE PARTY, LOVE PARTY & NON VIOLENCE PARTY. The author is confident that this will be a very bright chance and opportunity to implement the peace programs without any hurdles and any oppositions and even threats. The people always like and support peace, love and affection but it is the leaders of the political parties and arms production industries that dislike global peace.

Discussion

The above mentioned policies will make remarkable influence among the masses. Practice and experience showed that education is the mightiest WEAPON TO TRANSFORM MASSES. The author has been rigorously disseminating and promoting peace yoga as a means and tools to promote peace in all the 192 world countries.
