RELATED WORKS :

With so many news apps out there, staying informed has never been easier—or more overwhelming. Some apps rely heavily on AI-driven recommendations, curating stories based on what they think you want to see. Others focus on sleek design, making the reading experience as visually appealing as possible. Then there are those that lock premium content behind pay walls, offering in-depth journalism at a cost. So, how does News-Mania compare to the big players? Let's take a closer look.

Google News:

Google News is like an all-in-one news hub, pulling stories from thousands of sources worldwide.

Apple News:

Apple News brings together articles from major publishers and curates them for iPhone users. It's polished and easy to use, but a lot of its best content is locked behind a pay wall with Apple News+.

Flip-board:

If you love visuals, Flip-board is great. It lets you create your own personalized magazine by picking topics you like.

Smart News:

Smart News is all about speed & simplicity. It pulls read trending stories from trusted sources and even lets you read articles offline.

Pocket:

Pocket isn't really a news app—it's more of a tool to save articles for later. It's perfect for organizing your reading list but doesn't offer real-time updates or personalized news feeds.

In shorts:

In shorts is great for people who just want quick updates. Every news story is condensed into a 60-word summary, making it easy to stay informed in a few minutes.

PROBLEM STATEMENT :

In today's fast-paced digital world, staying informed is more important than ever. With the internet at our fingertips, we have access to an overwhelming amount of news content from countless sources—ranging from mainstream media outlets to independent publishers and social media platforms.

While this abundance of information might seem like a good thing, it often leads to information overload, making it difficult for users to filter through the noise and find news that is truly relevant to their interests.

Most traditional news platforms operate on a one-size-fits-all approach, presenting a broad mix of articles on politics, entertainment, technology, business, and other categories. While this works for some, many users find themselves endlessly scrolling through headlines that don't interest them. This results in disengagement, frustration, and inefficiency, as people waste time searching for the stories that matter most to them. Another common frustration is the lack of user-friendly features that would make reading the news more convenient and engaging.

Many platforms do not offer a simple way to bookmark articles for later reading or share interesting news effortlessly with friends and family. Without these essential tools, users are left juggling multiple tabs, struggling to remember articles they wanted to revisit, or manually copying and pasting links to share news across different apps.

In an era where personalization is key—whether in entertainment, shopping, or social media—news consumption should be no different. Users deserve a platform that adapts to their preferences, delivers relevant updates in real-time, and provides a seamless reading experience without unnecessary distractions.

PROPOSED SOLUTION :

In today's fast-paced world, keeping up with the latest news can feel overwhelming. With countless sources publishing articles every second, users often find themselves drowning in a sea of information—most of which doesn't even align with their interests. Traditional news platforms push a mix of trending topics, assuming every reader wants to see the same content. But in reality, not everyone cares about every headline. Some people want to stay updated on politics, while others are more interested in sports, technology, or entertainment. The problem? Finding the news that actually matters to you can be frustrating and time-consuming. But News-Mania is more than just a personalized news aggregator—it's an intuitive and effortless way to stay informed. ★ Bookmarking Feature – Sometimes, we come across an interesting article but don't have time to read it immediately. With News-Mania's easy bookmarking option, users can save articles and revisit them whenever they want. No more searching through multiple tabs or forgetting about a story you wanted to read later.

🗣️ Easy Sharing – In today's digital world, sharing news with friends and family is second nature. With just a tap, users can instantly share articles via social media, messaging apps, or email, making it easier to spread important news with their network.
